¿What is happening in Venezuela?

Between 2018 and 2021, Venezuela lost 25% of its educators. The country had 669,000 teachers, which reduced to 502,000 in three years. It is estimated that 59% of them left due to low salaries and precarious working conditions.

In total, Venezuela needs more than 250,000 teachers to fill vacancies in Mathematics, Physics, Social Sciences, Chemistry, Spanish, and Literature.

In response to this situation we promote the strengthening of education in our country's schools in three areas:

Mathematics

Reading & Writing

History of Venezuela

Learning from Home

One of the greatest impacts of the coronavirus in Venezuela was the suspension of classes, which affected the access to education for children and youth living in rural areas of Venezuela.

In response to this situation, we created an educational initiative where a group of specialists develop pedagogical material for different school stages.

These materials are printed and directly delivered to community centers, where our teachers implement them.

The educational guidebooks of this program have the advantage of not requiring electricity or internet access to be used.
